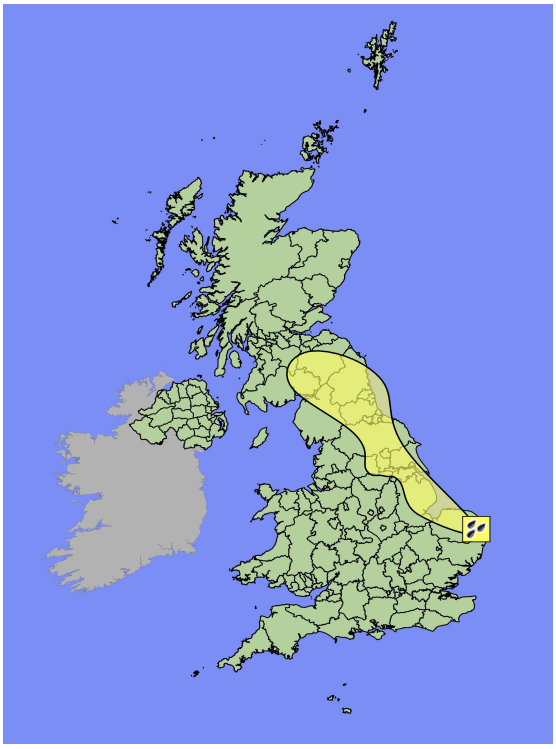
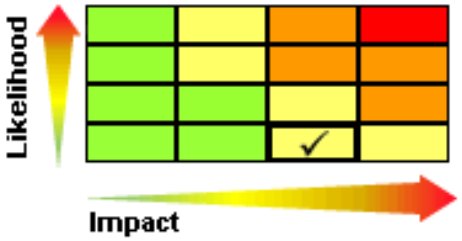
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
As the low pressure area finally starts to withdraw eastwards, the heavy shower risk moves in tandem towards eastern parts of England and perhaps into southern Scotland. Still the risk of some places catching 30 mm or more in just 3 or 4 hours.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Rain

Valid from 10:00 on Mon, 06th Aug 2012 until 22:00 on Mon, 06th Aug 2012

Heavy, thundery showers are expected to develop again during Monday. The public should be aware of the risk of surface water flooding, although as always in showery conditions, some places will escape.
